

Little Chalfont Nature Park

A hidden gem in the Chilterns

APRIL What to look for in the park this month

Flowers in the park –

The humble dandelion is an early source of nectar for bees and butterflies and brightens up the meadow and hedgerows.

More early flowers in the park Look hard to spot the first ones

Violets

Celandine

Other wildlife

Slugs like the damp grass

Bumblebees will soon be busy feeding on nectar between the April Showers

Butterflies

These early butterflies have been seen locally. Have you seen them?

Brimstone (Left)

The Comma (closed wings) Can you see the white comma on its wing? (Middle)

The Comma (open wings) (Right)

Birds you may see

Long-tailed tit (They are often in large darting flocks)

Wren

Greenfinch

Great tit

All these birds are starting to find nest sites and build their nests

Enjoy spring in the park. Let us know on Facebook what you spot.